THE ROLE OF NUCLEAR IN CANADIAN SOCIETY

Canada's nuclear industry is poised for change and growth. The global community is moving ahead on nuclear expansion to address the challenges of climate change, and the province of Ontario is committing to new nuclear in its Long-Term Energy Plan. But how does nuclear play a role in our communities and in the health and well-being of our society?

Join Denise Carpenter, President and CEO of the Canadian Nuclear Association, as she examines these questions.
